

February 2023 Newsletter

From Judy:

It's Minnesota and it is going to be cold for a while yet!

Please make sure to report to the office right away if you notice your unit, the commons areas or the hallways are more cold than usual.

We will be doing some electrical updates in the building in the next few months. Watch the bulletin boards for notices of power interruptions.

❏ Do you have a date for Valentine's Day? Yes, February 14th.

❏ What's the difference between February 14th and July 4th to someone who is single?

There isn't any because they're both Independence Day.

❏ What do you say on the last day of the second month? February is ending today, but that's okay. We'll March on.

From Steven:

Please ensure if you have any work order requests they are submitted right away to the office.

Make sure when parking in the parking lots that your vehicle is not parked over the sidewalk. The snow removal guys need space to operate the sweeper to get snow and ice off the sidewalks.

Spring is right around the corner!
